Approved For Release 2004/01/16 CIA-RDP75-00149R000500150027-5

MARATHON, Fla., Jan. 3 (UPI) - Federal officers and local The group was led by Haltian police swooped down on a beach exile. priest Father Jean house lat night to break up a planned invasion by exiled soldiers of fortune bent on newspaper publisher. overthrowing Haiti President Mr. Masferrer said

Authorities said about 120 men. and a woman quartermaster, led by an exiled Catholie priest attack the Fidel Castro regime. dressed in khaki, were preparing to shove off to Haiti from an inlet at Coca Plum Beach in the Florida Keys, about 110 miles south of Miami.

Customs agents seized an old fishing boat, and an arsenal of rifles and other weapons, 120,000 rounds of ammunition and three tons of explosives. They also looked for an "air force" of five planes the would-be invaders claimed to have and a "navy' of two other vessels.

Customs agents arrested 21 of the men and rushed them to the Monroe County jail at Key West, 51 miles away, where they were undergoing ingerprinting and questioning early today.

They were arrested after an ugly confrontation that at least one officer feared would turn into a riot.

It was a strange sight in the moonlight when the officers and invasion force, both armed with machine guns, confronted each other. Cubans and Haitians waved their arms and milled around for more than an hour.

Many of those in the group were veterans of the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion of 1961.

Jean : Baptiste Georges, 44, and Cuban exile leader Rolando Masferrer. Cubans, Haitians and American a former senator and Havana

Mr. Masferrer said the plans Francois (Papa Doe) Duvalier. were to overthriw the Duvalier dictatorship and then set up a base in Halti for Cuban exiles to

> The military commander of the expedition was Haitian exile Col. Rene Leon, a graduate of special guerilla training by the U.S. Army.

Mr. Masferrer, who described himself "a humble adviser," machine guns, some as large as said the invasion force was 50 ealiber, homemade bombs, originally scheduled to go around Thanksgiving Day but was cancelled because "we were' intiltrated bу U.S. Customs agents."

The group occupied the two-story beachside house about four days ago and turned it into an armory and arsenal. The house was cluttered with homemade bombs, mines, rifles, explosives, mortars and a wide assortment of other weapons.

Approved For Release 2004/01/16 CIA-RDP75-00149R000500150027-5